

1st Thursday at the Bicycle Alliance
June 2nd, 5-7 p.m.

Join us for 1st Thursday Art Walk in Pioneer Square – with a bicycle-friendly twist! We will feature the bicycle-themed work of three local artists and Bicycle Alliance members, Lisa Reynolds, Marie Zahradnik and Andy Goulding. Take a look at their bios below.

Drop by our offices at 309A Third Ave S any time between 5-7 pm for this fun-filled gathering.

If you're interested in showing your work at a future Art Walk, contact Jay Steingold for more information: 206-224-9252 x304.

June 2011: like water (mixed media)

I've only recently found it in my vocabulary to call myself artist; thinking I needed to plan first and then commit- tripping on the conceptual phase- kept me from trying it on. Funny- I commit to my muses most fully – to places and people and moments –alone, atop a sentimental tore-up seat on a strong blue Bianchi without any kind of a plan. Like water following the path of least resistance, I flow. And I get there from here thanks in large part to the work of the Bicycle Alliance.

The circuitous route taken to get me here will demand your imagination, but it blesses us both with accidental moments to honor, and everyday images to know anew. Today, I'm a self-taught artist honored to show throughout Seattle, and having spent my life observing and translating natural process, both journey and means tend to make their way into my art.

I invite you to pedal over to my Bēhance portfolio or my blog. I welcome your comments, commissions, and bike route suggestions.

lisa reynolds

http://www.behance.net/dirt_thrower

<http://dirtthrower.blogspot.com/>

Hi there, I'm Marie Helen Zahradnik and I am an illustrator and artist. I grew up outside of Vancouver, Canada and studied there at the University of British Columbia, too. I also studied and lived in both Copenhagen and Montreal. I like working with pencils, watercolours, india ink and paper best, but have a growing affection for what my computer can do for my art.

I've done art for and participated in several community projects, including bike co-ops, a public harbour project, and I've also painted a mural. I've done illustrations for newspapers, maps, stationary and books, as well.

I just moved to Seattle and am in love with the place- exploring it by bike is always full of satisfying surprises. I'm happy to call the Central District home, and eager to be involved in new local projects.

I'm the founder of Megahertz Illustration (my initials! MHz!) and you can see more of my work at:

cargocollective.com/mhzillustration

Andy Goulding is a retired architect and avid biker. He is the husband of Barbara Culp, Executive Director of Bicycle Alliance.

Andy teaches Travel Drawing at Rick Steves Classes, as a way to improve our memories, slow down and appreciate picturesque sights. With pocket sketchpad and ink pen, stopping for a few minutes can capture a different sense of places, buildings and people along the way. A great way to complement your journal!